Busy week for Friday

FRIDAY BROWN

Friday Brown, the Tyldesley singer, who recently won a European song contest, will have made three appearances on BBC shows in the week ending next Monday.

Friday (her real name is Marlon Stockley and she lives with her parents in Bodmin Road, Tyldesley) was in the quickfire BBC 2 "One more time" programme on Monday in which celebrated singers put over songs in relay, without a break.

On Saturday, at 6.15 p.m. she will be in the BBC 1 "Show of the North," and she will be back in "One more time" next Monday.

Friday, 23-years-old, has been a full professional for five years and is featured regularly on radio as well. She was in the new series beginning last night at 8 p.m. singing with Geoff Love and his orchestra in "Music with Geoff."

She was born in Vicar's Hall Lane, Boothstown and lived in Walkden with her parents until they moved to Tyldesley over a year ago.
